B- Reading (16 Marks)

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

Do you know what I love about books? It is not just the stories, created by talented authors to take us into imaginary worlds, but I also love the covers of the books. As you walk into bookshops, you cannot help noticing them. Covers look beautiful because much care has gone into designing them. Some people say you should not judge a book by its cover, but unfortunately, that is exactly what many people do. Personally, I do not see any harm in judging a book by its cover. If all books looked the same, and gave us no information about the author, surely it would be harder to choose.

Recently I took part in a reading experiment. I was one of two hundred people who received a book to read within ten days. The book had no cover, title, or the author's name. I am the kind of person who does research about a book before opening it. So, without a title, I could not search through online reviews.

While I was reading the book, I did not enjoy it much. And when I was finally told the title and the author's name, I was amazed. This was the same person who had written one of my favourite books. I could not explain it. Some people might say that, because I knew nothing about the book or its author, my opinion was more honest. However, I am not sure I agree with them. I believe that it prevented me from enjoying what I would normally consider to be quite an enjoyable book. Although reading a book in this way was an interesting experience, it was not one I would like to repeat.
